BAILIWICK OF GUERNSEY

1 January–30 April 2023

A. GUERNSEY

1. LAWS APPROVED BY THE STATES OF DELIBERATION

- (a) Employment and Equal Opportunities Service (Guernsey Law, 2023 (Billet d'État No VI of 2023. Approved 26.04.23)
- This Law establishes the office of the Director of the Employment and Equal Opportunities Service. The Law also confers functions on, and transfers functions to, the holder of that office, the Director. As the Director has been assigned functions under the Prevention of Discrimination (Guernsey) Ordinance, 2022, it is intended that the Law comes into force at the same time as that Ordinance, on 1 October 2023.
- Part I establishes the office of the Director, deals with the Director's appointment and term of office and confers powers on the Committee to make a temporary appointment to the office if it is vacant. Section 2 establishes the independence of the Director from the Committee and the States, and ss 3 and 4 make provision for the Director's salary and staff. Section 6 enables the Director to appoint a Deputy to act during any period in which the Director is unavailable. Sections 7 and 8 concern reporting and accounting responsibilities.
- Section 9 sets out the functions of the Director, and s 10 transfers functions from the Committee to the Director from other related employment enactments. Section 11 confers ancillary powers on the Director, including the power to require documents from a person.
- Part II concerns confidentiality (both in relation to documents required by the Director, and providing that the Director must treat documents received as confidential). Section 17 provides for a right of appeal for any person directly affected by a decision of the Director to the Royal Court. The remainder of the Part concerns proof of documents, record keeping and service.
- Sections 22 to 26 create offences and penalties. A failure to provide documents or information to the Director under s 11 enables the Director, following representations, to impose a discretionary financial penalty. Such a failure is not in itself an offence (unless the document is false, deceptive or misleading in a material particular).
- Sections 27 to 32 relate to general miscellaneous and procedural matters, including the making of subordinate legislation, interpretation provisions and commencement.
- The Schedule sets out the consequential and related amendments.

2. ORDINANCES APPROVED BY THE STATES OF DELIBERATION

- (a) Air Accident Investigation (Guernsey) Ordinance 2022
(Billet d'État No III of 2023. Approved 15.02.23)

This Ordinance implements Regulation (EU) 996/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 20 October 2010 on the investigation and prevention of accidents and incidents in civil aviation and repealing Directive 94/56/EC (Regulation 996/2010), as amended by further EU Regulations, with modifications for Guernsey.

The modifications take account of the amendments made to Regulation 996/2010 by the United Kingdom in the Aviation Safety (Amendment, etc.) (EU Exit) Regulations 2019 consequent on the exit of the United Kingdom from the European Union.

Regulation 996/2010, as modified, sets out the statutory requirements for the carrying out of air accident investigations, for example where there has been an accident or other incident in the Bailiwick, or where an aircraft registered in the Bailiwick has an accident or other incident and no other State is required to hold an air accident investigation.

- (b) Land Planning and Development (Exemptions) Ordinance 2023
(Billet d'État No IV of 2023. Approved 29.03.23)

This Ordinance repeals and replaces the Land Planning and Development (Exemptions) Ordinance, 2007 (“the 2007 Exemptions Ordinance”) which specifies descriptions of development for which planning permission is not required provided that listed provisos (a type of condition) are met. These are known as exemptions from planning permission. The new Ordinance carries forward, with amendments, the current exemptions in the 2007 Exemptions Ordinance, significantly widens existing exemptions and adds a large number of new exemptions. The exemptions are listed in Schedule 1 to the new Ordinance and grouped in classes relating mainly to the location or type of development. The opportunity has also been taken to make certain existing exemptions, in particular for dwelling-houses and non-domestic buildings, more consistent.

A transitional provision in section 5 allows owners and developers 12 months, from the date of commencement of the new Ordinance, to complete physical development started before that date, provided it is completed in accordance with the 2007 Ordinance. This provision only applies to physical development and not to a material change of use as physical development can take some time to complete. Section 5(3) provides for a further transitional provision for the temporary visitor accommodation change of use exemption to ensure that it is clear that changes of use and related notices under the current exemption relating to such changes are treated as made under the equivalent exemption in the new Ordinance.

- (c) Criminal Justice (Proceeds of Crime) (Bailiwick of Guernsey) (Amendment) Ordinance, 2023
(Billet d'État No IV of 2023. Approved 31.03.23)

This Ordinance amends the Criminal Justice (Proceeds of Crime) (Bailiwick of Guernsey) Law, 1999 (“the Proceeds of Crime Law”), by inserting a new Schedule, making provision for a statutory minimum standards test for accountants.

Section 1 and the Schedule to the Ordinance insert a new Schedule 7 to the Proceeds of Crime Law. Paragraph references below are to paragraphs of inserted Schedule 7. Section 1 also makes several minor amendments to Schedule 6 to the Proceeds of Crime Law (which is concerned with the Administrator of estate agents) to make the provisions of that Schedule more consistent with the provisions of the new Schedule to be inserted by this Ordinance. Sections 2, 3 and 4 are concerned with the extent, citation and commencement of the Ordinance.

Paragraphs 1 to 3 establish an office to be called the Administrator of Accountants (“the Administrator”), provide that the office shall be held by the Registrar of Companies in Guernsey or such other person as the Policy & Resources Committee (“the Committee”) may from time to time appoint by regulations, and set out statutory functions and ancillary powers of the Administrator.

Paragraph 4 introduces a requirement for initial notification to the Administrator, and the provision of information relating to the minimum standards test, before a person becomes involved in accountancy and makes provision regarding notification by persons already involved in accountancy when the Schedule comes into force.

Paragraph 5 provides for an ongoing requirement for a person involved in accountancy to provide information relating to the minimum standards test upon request and to notify the Administrator if they are convicted of any offence or where there is any change in information previously provided.

Paragraphs 6 to 8 confer a power on the Administrator to apply to the Royal Court for an accountant disqualification order (where in the opinion of the Administrator a person is not a fit person to be involved in accountancy), set out the grounds for making a disqualification order, and make provision for the revocation of a disqualification order.

Paragraph 9 makes provision for the imposition of civil financial penalties by the Administrator where there has been a failure to comply with requirements under Schedule 7, and paras 10—12 confer upon the Administrator the power to issue private reprimands, public statements (where a person has contravened in a material particular a provision of Schedule 7) and to impose conditions on a person involved in accountancy or on an accountancy business in respect of that person or business’s conduct of accountancy business.

Paragraph 13 gives a person or business who is the subject of a proposed financial penalty, public statement, or condition, the right to make written representations and makes provision regarding such representations, and para 14 provides that a person is not liable to a civil penalty if a prosecution has been commenced and that the Administrator shall repay a penalty if a prosecution commences after a penalty has been paid.

Paragraph 15 provides a general right for a person directly affected by any action, decision or determination of the Administrator to apply to the Royal Court to set aside that action, direction, decision or determination and makes provision regarding such applications.

Paragraphs 16 and 17 create offences of contravening any provision of an accountant disqualification order, and knowingly or recklessly providing false, deceptive or misleading information to the Administrator, and paras 18 and 19 make provision regarding the disclosure and publication of non-confidential and confidential information by the Administrator.

Paragraph 20 provides a standard form exclusion of civil liability for persons undertaking functions under Schedule 7, in respect of things done or omitted to be done in good faith and in compliance with the Human Rights (Bailiwick of Guernsey) Law, 2000. Paragraph 21 makes provision regarding service and notice of documents under Schedule 7, and para 22 confers on the Committee power to make regulations making provision in respect of the professional qualification of accountants.

Paragraph 23 provides that a person is not a person involved in accountancy for the purposes of the Schedule when s/he is subject to requirements imposed by a jurisdiction outside the Bailiwick which the Committee is satisfied are equivalent to the requirements imposed by the Schedule, and undertakes accountancy primarily from outside the Bailiwick. It also creates a power for the Committee to make regulations specifying jurisdictions which impose such equivalent requirements.

Paragraph 24 and 25 define terms used in the Schedule.

- (d) Trading Standards (Fair Trading) (Guernsey) Ordinance 2023 (Billet d'État No IV of 2023. Approved 31.03.23)

This Ordinance, made under the Trading Standards (Enabling Provisions) (Guernsey) Law, 2009, makes wide ranging provision in the area of consumer protection and fair trading. In large part it makes provision that is based on, and consistent with (subject to necessary modifications), relevant UK legislation.

The Ordinance is in eight Parts. Part I deals with statutory rights under consumer contracts and remedies for breach; Part II with unfair contract terms; Part III with information requirements and the right to cancel in respect of consumer contracts; Part IV with unfair commercial practices and rights to redress; Part V with product safety requirements; Part VI and VII with civil enforcement of the provisions; and Part VIII with final and miscellaneous provisions.

The Ordinance (at Chapter II of Part II) gives statutory recognition to the Trading Standards Service (“TSS”) as a service within the Committee for Home Affairs, and elsewhere confers statutory investigatory powers on TSS officers, as well as creating associated offences. Provisions at Chapter II of Part II in respect of international obligations, and the wording of some of the provisions of Part V, reflect obligations under the post-Brexit Trade and Co-operation Agreement with the European Union, and the Comprehensive and Progressive Agreement for Trans-Pacific Partnership (the CPTTP).

- (e) Income Tax (Guernsey) (Approval of Agreement with Qatar) Ordinance 2023

(Billet d’État No VI of 2023. Approved 26.04.23)

This Ordinance specifies, as an approved international agreement, an agreement providing for the obtaining, delivery, making available, furnishing and/or exchanging of documents and information in relation to tax, made for the purposes of the Income Tax (Guernsey) Law, 1975.

The agreement specified is the Agreement between the Government of Guernsey and the Government of the State of Qatar for the Avoidance of Double Taxation and the Prevention of Fiscal Evasion with respect to Taxes on Income signed on 22 February 2013, the Protocol having been signed at Doha on 21 June 2022.
